Welcome to Southcoast Health

“At Southcoast Health, our patients come first. Whether it is establishing our region’s largest network of outstanding physicians or delivering care of the highest clinical quality, everything we do is done with our patients in mind.”

To our patients and your loved ones:

At Southcoast Health, we are honored to serve your healthcare needs, and consider it a sacred responsibility. Thank you for trusting our nationally recognized physicians and providers, nurses, medical staff, and support services with your well-being.

During your stay, we are committed to providing you with the best possible experience with our unmatched combination of clinical excellence and personal empathy. We will also be here for you after your discharge should you need services as an outpatient.

I encourage you to be an active partner in your care. Your voice is an essential part of your experience, and your health care team values your input. We want your visit to be as comfortable, safe, and beneficial as possible. We understand that key to your treatment and recovery is ensuring you have access to the very best information and resources.

That is why we have developed this comprehensive Patient Handbook, which we hope you find reassuring and useful. It is full of information to help you during and after your stay, so please take some time to look through it.

This Patient Handbook will explain your services while you are a patient at Southcoast. It will also explain your rights as a patient, provide valuable educational information, and space for you to write down questions and notes, as well as inform you about the people involved in your health care team.

For the convenience of your family and friends, there is also information about visiting, the cafeteria, the gift shop, and other services. Use this booklet as a resource during your stay, and please take it home with you, as it contains important contact information.

We realize hospitalization can often be cause for worry, and it is our commitment that you feel supported and respected throughout your stay. If you have questions about your care, I urge you to talk to your provider, nurse or other caregivers.

We always welcome feedback about our services so that we can continue providing exceptional care from people who care, close to home. This is our mission on behalf of the communities we serve across southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Then. Now. Always.

On behalf of all of us at Southcoast Health, I extend every wish to you for a comfortable stay and a speedy recovery.

With gratitude,

Keith A. Hovan

In addition to its hospitals and a physician network of more than 650 providers, Southcoast has more than 50 service locations across southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island. This includes more than 40 physician practices and seven urgent care centers, a Visiting Nurse Association, the Southcoast Health Cancer Centers, outpatient surgery centers, and numerous ancillary facilities.

Southcoast serves more than 700,000 residents in ~30 communities, covering more than 900 square miles. Our clinical integration provides seamless network referrals to specialists and ensures continuity of care for patients.

When you come to Southcoast Health, you will receive the best care, plus something more. We deliver an unmatched combination of clinical excellence with a personal touch. Our physicians come from some of the nation's leading medical institutions. They chose Southcoast so they can bring great care to the communities they call home. We are proud to provide some of the most advanced procedures and innovative new treatments in medicine to our patients.

We value a diverse, ethical, and equitable culture, critical to ensuring our healthy and just organization.

We celebrate and honor the rich cultural backgrounds and unique attributes of one another and the patients and communities we are privileged to serve.

We strictly prohibit and do not tolerate unlawful discrimination of any kind. Non-compliance is subject to immediate corrective action.

Southcoast Health is committed to embracing and fostering a diverse and welcoming environment for all.

Medicare & Medicaid Patient Rights

Southcoast Health provides all patients with the same level of quality care and does not discriminate on any basis. Massachusetts law also protects Medicare/Medicaid patients from discrimination. Medicare/Medicaid patients must receive hospital care when needed and must be treated in the same manner as non-Medicare/Medicaid patients.

Hospitals may not:

- Deny admission when hospital care is needed
- Delay admission to the hospital
- Transfer or discharge you prematurely

Medicare/Medicaid patients are entitled to receive hospital care regardless of the cost of treatment or the seriousness of illness. Hospitals may not discriminate based on your diagnosis, length-of-stay, or other criteria applied to other patients with similar medical needs.

Discharge & Post-Hospital Services

If you need medical services after your treatment, Southcoast must provide a written plan for those services at least 24 hours before your discharge from one of its facilities unless a short stay makes it impossible to meet the 24-hour requirement. The plan should indicate all arrangements that the hospital has made for your post-hospital care. If you disagree with your discharge plan, your provider and the hospital case manager must meet with you to develop another plan you can agree with. If, after the meeting, you still do not agree with your discharge plan, you may request the Massachusetts Department of Public Health's Advocacy Office to review the plan and decide whether it is adequate. To file a complaint of discrimination or to request a review of a discharge plan, contact:

Medical Decision Making – Health Care Proxy & Massachusetts Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment

Health Care Proxy

Under the Massachusetts Health Care Proxy Law, any competent person can authorize another person (often a family member) to make health care decisions if you, the patient, becomes unable to do so.

You do this by completing the standard health care proxy form. The form will be made available to you while you are in the hospital or can be completed by visiting mass.gov or southcoast.org/for-patients-visitors.

A health care proxy is a document that allows you to appoint another person as your health care agent to make health care decisions on your behalf if you are no longer able to do so. You may give your health care agent the authority to make decisions for you in all medical situations if you cannot speak for yourself. Thus, even in medical conditions not anticipated by you, your agent can make decisions and ensure you are treated according to your preferences and beliefs.

The health care proxy becomes effective only when you become unable to make decisions, as determined by a physician. Until then, you continue to be in charge of making your own health care decisions. It can be canceled orally, and you always have the right while competent to sign a new health care proxy.

Massachusetts Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment (MOLST)

Medical Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment (MOLST) is a medical order form that communicates instructions between health professionals about a patient's care. MOLST is based on an individual's right to accept or refuse medical treatment, including treatments that might extend life. In Massachusetts, patients with a serious advanced illness at any age may discuss filling out a MOLST form with their provider (prior to and during hospitalization).

Before completing a MOLST, patients and their loved ones should discuss care and treatment options with the health care provider. Assuming a patient is unable to speak to a health care professional about their choices due to their medical condition, a legally recognized health care proxy may be able to implement, change, or cancel a MOLST on the patient's behalf. The patient (or health care proxy) and a health care provider must sign the MOLST form to be valid.

A copy of the MOLST enters the patient's medical record, and the form then remains with the patient, to be honored by health care professionals wherever the patient is receiving care. To obtain a MOLST form, speak with a member of your care team, or visit www.mass.gov or southcoast.org/for-patients-visitors.

Ethical Practices – What is Bioethics?

Bioethics is the ethical decision-making around medical treatment, technology, and medical and policy issues. Bioethics looks at questions about values and what matters in medicine and patient care.

Bioethics Committee

An ethics consultation might be considered for some of the following reasons:

- To make issues clear regarding a patient’s decision-making capacity, informed consent, or advance directives
- To provide recommendations on Do Not Resuscitate (DNR) orders, or the ethical aspects of withdrawal from nutrition, medication, ventilator, or other support in specific cases
- To help resolve conflicts around ethical issues (e.g., family and caregivers, patient and caregivers, patient and family, or among staff members)

How the Bioethics Committee Works

The Bioethics Committee comprises of community and hospital professionals who provide consultation and advice about health care’s ethical aspects. Southcoast Health’s committee includes physicians, nurses, an ethicist, and individuals from the following hospital departments: Pastoral Care, Care Coordination, Risk Management, Administration, and Nutritional Services.

Anyone may request our Bioethics Committee’s service, including yourself, loved ones, caregivers, health care professionals, and administrators. You can contact the Bioethics Committee by asking a member of your care team or asking to speak with the Risk Management Department.

A site coordinator will screen requests, and if appropriate, a Case Conference Team comprised of members of the Bioethics Committee will convene.

It is important to understand that while the committee will offer you guidance, its members will not make decisions for you or tell your doctor how to proceed.

Organ & Tissue Donations

Every day thousands of people await the gift of life made possible through organ donation.

Southcoast Health staff can arrange organ and tissue donation services through our affiliations with the New England Donor Services and the New England Eye Bank. The hospital is required by law to offer these services to families.

You may also become an organ donor by registering at organdonor.gov or checking the box on your next driver’s license renewal.

The Importance of Organ Donation

The need for organ donors across the country remains significant. According to the U.S. Government Information on Organ Donation and Transplantation, there are currently more than 114,000 men, women and children on the national transplant waiting list. Unfortunately, 22 people die each day waiting for a transplant.

In memory of the individual who gave the gift of life to others, Southcoast Health will fly the New England Donor Services flag on the last day of each month at the respective site where an organ donation has occurred.

Patient Emergency - "Code A"

There are times when a patient or visitor might be concerned about a serious change in a patient's condition that may be a medical emergency. If such a situation should arise, use "Code A" to call for help. Code A can be used when a patient appears to have a serious change in their condition, which the health care team is unaware of. Changes may include difficulty breathing, seizure, confusion, mental state, or when the patient may be acting or feeling unusual.

To call Code A, dial 4357 or HELP from any hospital telephone. You will be asked for the room number, patient name, patient concern, and your name.

The call will activate a Rapid Response Team, a multi-disciplinary team of critical care specialists who will gather at the patient's bedside to assess their condition and advise on the best way to proceed with care.

Clinical Social Work Services

Serious medical conditions often can cause patients to experience personal, family, and financial stress. Similarly, pre-existing economic, social, and emotional issues can negatively affect a patient's overall health and recovery from illness. Southcoast Health's Clinical Social Workers are available to provide emotional support and counseling to help patients cope with their condition, prepare for their hospital discharge, and address their health issues.

Members of your medical team may engage social workers to help you and your family navigate the healthcare system and address concerns affecting your health and wellness. They can provide you with information regarding community resources and make necessary referrals to assist you after your hospital discharge. You can also request to speak with a social worker for mental health, substance use, or safety concerns. Social Work staff are licensed and trained in the areas of medical social work and behavioral health. Their goal is to support you through your hospital stay and to help you to create a discharge plan that addresses your recovery needs.

No Smoking Policy

The Southcoast Health System maintains a tobacco, smoke and vape-free campus. We expect our employees, patients, and visitors to refrain from smoking or using any tobacco products while at any Southcoast Health site and surrounding neighborhoods.

Use of tobacco is defined as using any cigarettes, cigars, pipes, smokeless, or other tobacco products. In addition, this policy also covers other non-tobacco related devices, such as e-cigarettes and vape pens that do not use tobacco products but generate vapors that may contain nicotine or other components. It also strictly prohibits the use of other non-tobacco products, such as marijuana.

Patients who smoke may choose from several replacement options upon request. If you are interested in using a tobacco replacement product while you are a patient at a Southcoast Health hospital, please talk to your nurse about your options.

Quality & Safety: How Southcoast Health Measures Up

Safety and the highest quality outcomes for all our patients are the guiding principles of Southcoast Health. We take pride in the excellent outcomes we achieve for our patients and are committed to hospital quality and safety in southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island at our three hospitals.

"Patient safety and infection prevention is a high priority at Southcoast Health. We follow the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and other regulatory agencies' requirements to make your hospital stay safe," says Dr. Lacerda De La Cruz, Infectious Disease Specialist. "Our staff is consistently trained on new patient safety and infection prevention practices. We put these in place, evaluate our outcomes, and make any necessary adjustments to make Southcoast Health a safe healing environment."

Our ongoing quality and safety initiatives help us deliver better health care to you and your family. Southcoast Health strives to provide a wide range of services and achieve the highest degree of clinical excellence in quality and safety.

Eliesel Lacerda De La Cruz, MD, Infectious Disease Specialist

Keeping You Safe During Your Procedure

Whether you are having surgery or a procedure as an inpatient or an outpatient, your caregivers will take several steps to ensure your safety and prevent infection and other complications. We will also encourage you to take part in some of these activities.

Patient Verification

We will confirm that you are the patient scheduled for the procedure by asking you for your name and date of birth to ensure that the information matches the medical record. If you are not wearing a wristband, we will ask you your name, date of birth, and address to be sure it matches the medical record.

Surgical Site Marking

We will discuss what procedure you are having and on which side of the body, if applicable, and make sure the information matches that on the medical record. Then, your surgeon will mark the site with “yes.”

southcoast.org/services/cardio-heart-vascular/the-watchman

Time Out

Before we start your procedure and with your surgeon in the room, we verify that everyone in the room agrees that everything is in place to safely proceed with the procedure. We will do this using a detailed written checklist.

Why Are We Repeating Ourselves?

During your stay, you will be asked the same questions many times. This practice helps us make sure we are providing the right care to the right patient. Please don't think we are not listening to you. We want to keep you safe while you are in our care.

Infection Prevention & Control

Infection prevention and control are the responsibility of every person in the hospital setting. Our Infection Prevention Department has put into practice a program to protect patients, staff, and visitors from reducing infection risk. Additional strategies are used in certain areas. For example, you may see signs posted on patient doors indicating the need for special protective measures. These extra measures help control the transmission of certain germs or diseases. It is important to look for, read, and follow these precaution signs.

Your safety is our priority. If you have questions or concerns about infection control, ask a member of your care team to put you in touch with a member of our Infection Control Department.

Important Reminders:

Cover Your Cough

Serious respiratory illnesses like influenza, COVID-19, respiratory syncytial virus (RSV), whooping cough, and severe acute respiratory syndrome (SARS) are spread by coughing or sneezing or unclean hands.

To help stop the spread of germs:

- Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue when you cough or sneeze — If you don't have a tissue, cough or sneeze into your upper sleeve, not your hands.
- Put your used tissue in the wastebasket.
- Clean your hands after coughing or sneezing, using soap and water or alcohol-based hand cleaner.

Note: You may be asked to put on a surgical mask to protect others. You may also ask for a surgical mask to wear if you are ill or feel you want to protect yourself.

Wash Your Hands

Hand washing is one of the best ways to prevent infection and control the spread of diseases. Hospital staff and doctors should clean their hands before entering your room and after caring for you. You may kindly ask your caregiver if they washed their hands before taking care of you. You should also wash your hands frequently, and staff can help you if needed.

Adam Saltzman, MD
Medical Director of the Structural Heart Disease Program

Please note:

Discharges are based on when you meet your care goals and can happen at any time of day. Please arrange your ride home accordingly. Let your care team know if you need assistance in coordinating a ride. Before you leave, make sure you have all of your personal belongings, valuables, and any medications you may have brought with you from home.

Discharge Planning

In general, the discharge plan goes as follows:

- Evaluation of the patient by attending provider.
- Discussion with the patient or their representative.
- Planning for homecoming or transfer to another care facility.
- Determining whether caregiver assistance or other support is needed.
- Obtain referrals to a home care agency and/or appropriate support organizations in the community.
- Arranging for follow-up appointments or tests.
- Medication education and prescription review.

Your Guide to Understanding Observation Status & Coverage Information

What is an observation status?

Observation is a specific status that allows providers to place a patient in an acute care setting, within the hospital, for a limited amount of time to determine the need for inpatient admission. You may be admitted in some instances, which means staying overnight in observation status.

Your quality of care is the same regardless if you are an observation patient or inpatient admission.

What is the difference in billing between an inpatient status and an observation status?

An observation stay is billed as an outpatient service.

What prompts an observation status?

Many medical conditions may prompt the need for observation, such as symptoms that can usually be resolved within 24-48 hours or when the need for hospitalization is unclear. Observation allows your provider more time to evaluate or treat a patient and decide to admit or discharge.

What if my provider decides my condition requires acute inpatient care?

When that determination is made, your provider must write an order to convert your outpatient observation stay to inpatient admission. A written order is sent to your insurance company for billing information.

What if my provider decides that I do not require acute inpatient care?

Your provider will “discharge” you and arrange for outpatient follow-up care.

If I have an upcoming procedure, can my provider appoint an observation status before the procedure is performed?

No, the routine preparation before a test or procedure is not liable for observation status. Observation is only ordered after a procedure and only after a routine recovery period has resulted in a complication that requires additional time for monitoring and treatment.

What am I expected to pay for as an observation patient?

Since observation is an outpatient service, any outpatient benefits will apply. To better estimate copays, co-insurance, deductibles, and other costs associated with your outpatient status, reach out directly to your insurance company. Contact information can generally be found on the back of your insurance card.

What am I expected to pay for as an observation patient if I have MEDICARE?

The federal government sets rules about Medicare coverage. If you are admitted to the hospital as an inpatient, your care and treatment are covered under your Medicare Part A benefits. You would pay a deductible and co-insurance based on the number of days you spend in the hospital.

If you are placed in observation, the care you receive is covered as an outpatient status under Medicare Part B benefits. You would pay a deductible and a 20% co-insurance based on the type of services provided in the hospital.

It is important to note:

- Medicare requires that you are billed for any self-administered medications such as oral medications, creams, ointments, inhalers, eye drops, ear drops, suppositories, and insulin.
- Assistance with daily living activities such as supervision to prevent falls, bathing, walking, and transferring from bed to chair does not require continued acute care hospitalization under your Medicare benefit.

Will observation days count toward the required three-day stay for Medicare patients and nursing home coverage?

No, observation nights/hours do not count toward the Medicare required three-day stay.

Medicare Advantage Subscribers

- Medicare Advantage plans may have different costs and benefits from original Medicare, but people with Medicare Advantage plans have the same rights and protections as original Medicare (Part A and Part B).
- Under Medicare Advantage, insurer approval is necessary rather than inpatient/observation status when determining coverage to a skilled nursing facility.

For more information, call a Medicare representative at 800-MEDICARE (800-633-4227) or learn more about your Skilled Nursing Facility (SNF) options by visiting www.medicare.gov/publications and viewing the booklet “Medicare Coverage of Skilled Nursing Facility Care.”

Disputing Observation or Inpatient Status

If you believe the services that you received in the hospital should have been billed as inpatient services, please follow the instructions when you receive your Medicare Summary Notice to challenge the hospital charges listed under Part B of the notice. Please note, your notice is sent after your hospital stay has ended, and an appeal will only occur after being discharged from the hospital.

Please ask a member of your care team to connect you with your Case Manager to explain anything you do not understand about your benefits.

Daisy Awards – Honor Your Nurse

Southcoast Health has joined with The DAISY Foundation to recognize and honor extraordinary and compassionate nurses at Charlton Memorial, St. Luke's, and Tobey Hospitals.

Family members in memory of J. Patrick Barnes established the DAISY Foundation, a not-for-profit international organization. Patrick died at the age of 33 in late 1999 from complications of Idiopathic Thrombocytopenic Purpura (ITP), a little known but not uncommon autoimmune disease. The Barnes Family was awestruck by the clinical skills, caring, and compassion of the nurses who cared for Patrick, so they created this award to say "thank you" to nurses who make a profound difference in their patients' and patients' families' lives. More than 4,000 healthcare facilities across the continuum of care and nursing schools in all 50 states and more than 20 countries participate in The DAISY Award. DAISY stands for Diseases Attacking the Immune SYstem.

Southcoast Health will select 24 nurses throughout the year to receive the award. Nominations from patients, families, and staff are welcome. To nominate a nurse from one of Southcoast Health's hospitals or to read more about The DAISY Award at Southcoast Health, go to southcoast.org/daisy-award-nominations

Patient Satisfaction Surveys

We welcome all feedback about the service you or your loved one receives while our patient.

More Listening:

Southcoast Health believes patients should be active participants in health care, comparing quality, service, and cost. We understand that you are looking for the highest quality of care, superior customer service, compassion, courtesy, and respect. We want you to receive exceptional care and service from Southcoast Health. To learn more about your experience, we work with NRC Health to conduct patient surveys for all our service areas.

Who will receive a survey from NRC Health?

Soon after you return home from your inpatient stay, NRC Health, may contact you by email, text message, or phone. If you are selected to participate, please take a few minutes to complete our survey.

Southcoast Health also takes part in the Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers (HCAHPS) survey. This patient satisfaction survey is backed by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services and is used to improve the quality of your care. Upon your discharge, you may be selected to participate in this HCAHPS survey. Please take the time to fill out the HCAHPS survey. We take your feedback very seriously.

How is Your Pain?

As bad as it could be, nothing else matters

Can't bear the pain, unable to do anything

Awful, hard to do anything

Focus of attention, prevents doing daily activities

Hard to ignore, avoid usual activities

Interrupts some activities

Distracts me, can do usual activities

Sometimes distracts me

Notice pain, does not interfere with activities

Hardly notice pain

No pain
